

One Fine Solstice

I made a connection today in so many ways,
Like a child of the secret garden seeking the rays,
Like a beacon of transportation with open fairy wings,
Like a guiding guardian angel and the element sings.
I shared a smile with the spirits today and it warmed my heart,
The company was enchanting and weaved a vision of art,
The ripened glow of energy between the earth and my feet,
And conjuring the countenance to make the moment complete.

Ceremonial Sunsets

Pictures painting poetry from within and without,
The symmetry of signs and leaving nothing to doubt,
Inspiration fly's like Butterfly's and create every scene,
The swell of warming comfort in the lap of the green,
The conspiring tide of the elements with its golden glow,
Walked the walk along the pathway and let the feeling flow,
The rush of raw emotion and the heart starts to race,
The ingredients of the perfect moment serve up in one place.

Fire

Growing in a flicker and a rush of passion to taste the air, Dancing for the moment in joyous splendour and how you take me there,

Reaching out for life with the living, building breath and power and force,

Fanning out the fingers like rays of light and tapping at the source.

A Sign

We asked kindly for the sun and it came out to shine,
Mother Nature and the elements have offered up a Sign,
I am the earth from above, I am the earth from below,
I see the truth and I see its waxing to a kindred smile we know.

Mylo Hawk Elderin