Pathways Through The Ether

Stepping through the debris like a portal to the grove,
Holding hands with passion and the harmony betrothed.
Walking by the ages with a fanfare full of sound,
Warming is the welcome where the spirit tastes the ground

Breathing in the moment with the calming of the breeze,
Chorusing the birdsong in the shelter of the trees.
Touching with the feeling where the energy holds its glow,
Weaving through the sinews the strength to help the spirit grow.

Pathways through the ether weaving lifetimes down the line,
Heartbeats twinned with echoes where the echoes traverse the time.
Connections sail the tidal flow the spiral vortex that lies within,
Feeling builds an inner bond that grows beneath the skin.

Meander lines of wonder that can be traced through time and space,
Where the tribes and clans adventure with the strength of human race.
The braided strands of symmetry with their link to join two hearts,
A chain of links and a chain reaction in a multitude of parts.
