

Child of This Universe!

I am a child of this universe - moving with the phases of the moon,
I am the breeze of the future world - moving on and dancing to the tune,
I am the dream that will never end - open to the calling of the land,
I hold the fear of letting go - with the power of the moment in my hands.

I am the guide of my chosen path - weaving through the cobwebs of the past,
I hold the key to the constant flow - the power and the passion built to last,
I am the sky above my eternal earth - rolling through the concepts in my mind,
I am the shadow of a former soul - re-born with a future still to find.

I am a child of this universe - moving with the phases of the sun,
I am the rain that will feed the earth - learning to walk before we run,
I am the storm that is set to break - claiming the attentions of the heart,
I am the mind of communication - linking thinking for its part.

I am the truth in all existence - when its constant is to shine,
I am the sum of all my knowledge - as I seek so shall I find,
I am the secret of my understanding - as my path now shows the way,
I am the spirit of my destiny - let me introduce you to the day!
